After training and working in some of the top children's hospitals in the nation, I soon realized that my clients deserved better than what the modern medical system would allow.

Private telehealth is the answer to families who deserve high quality, personalized care that fits flexibly into their busy lives. I carefully choose advanced, cutting edge therapies that have been shown to be as effective or more-so when delivered by telehealth. With 12 years clinical experience, I crafted a rare skillset that promotes timely change, even for young children, through specialized telehealth programs (e.g., PCIT, PC-CARE).
